

EAGER TO TREAT BABIES

Friedmann Hopes He Is Saving Coming Generation.

FACES TEST WEDNESDAY

Physician Will Be Confronted with 100 Patients in Advanced Stages of Disease.

Dr. Friedrich Franz Friedmann since coming here has treated with his tortoise shells several babies who have developed tuberculosis, but he is eager to try the remedy on well babies. He desires, whenever it is possible, to inject the germs into infants newly born.

The physician said yesterday that eighteen months ago he gave his injection to three hundred and fifty newly born children, many having tuberculous parents, in Berlin, and he had watched them until he came to this country. He maintained that his culture had evidently done good work, as none of the children had yet shown signs of tuberculosis.

Confronted with the severe test at Seaton Hospital on Wednesday, in which a hundred persons, all in advanced stages of consumption, are to be treated, the tortoise germ discoverer pointed out to several newspaper men at the Ansonia yesterday that the real value of his discovery had been lost sight of in the furor growing out of the announcement that he had a cure.

He reiterated his statement that he did not have a cure for consumption, but only a method of treating the disease and said that his hope of stamping out the white plague was by saving the coming generation. Dr. Friedmann, who has hitherto shown what appeared to be a disposition toward reticence in making statements regarding his purposes, was anxious to have it understood that the real secret of the success he looked forward to lay in the principle of immunization.

Dr. Friedmann regretted that he had been unable to immunize any of the children of tubercular heredity in this city:

"It is by treating the newly born whose parents are tuberculous, or whose surroundings make them liable to tuberculosis," he declared, "that we can hope to accomplish something. By a process of immunization we ought, in two or three generations, to stamp out tuberculosis."

It was learned yesterday that official observers of the tests of the Friedmann treatment are sorry that premature statements have been made regarding the progress of patients. This, it was said, places those who are watching the cases in an official capacity in an embarrassing position, in that their desire not to make too early reports may work to the disadvantage of those who have placed hope in the "cure."

Official observers call attention to the hectic character of consumptive symptoms, and urge upon all sufferers to discount the enthusiasm following unofficial statements.

NO TRACE OF S. F. HOLLEY

Relatives of Coffee Broker Fear for His Safety.

No trace has been found of S. Frank Holley, a coffee broker, of No. 17 Hubert street, who disappeared a week ago. His relatives and friends fear that he has met with foul play. He usually carried a large sum of money with him, and his brother-in-law, E. H. Hudson, of No. 205 West 101st street, said that if Holley had not met with some serious accident he would surely communicate with his family.

Since his disappearance every place that Mr. Holley had been in the habit of visiting has been searched by his sister and brother-in-law, but to no avail. Not even Holley failed to go to these places, but he has not been seen by any one.

For several weeks prior to his mysterious disappearance Holley had complained of feeling ill. When he left the home of his sister, Mrs. Hudson, he told her that he intended to visit some friends and that he would be home early for his dinner. That was the last seen or heard from him.

G. L. Stowell, one of the members of the firm of Wood, Harmon & Co., of No. 261 Broadway, an intimate friend of Holley, said last night that he could not account for his absence, as he was a man of substantial means and temperate habits.

Holley is fifty-four years old and a bachelor. His sister said that at the time he left her home he wore a gray overcoat, dark sack coat, gray trousers and black derby hat. He was a five feet ten inches tall, weighs 155 pounds and has blue eyes and brown hair. He wore a close cropped sandy mustache when last seen.

GREEK GAMES AT BARNARD

Girl Athletes, in Flowing Robes, to Hold Benefit Tournament.

Barnard's annual "Greek Games" will be held in the Columbia gymnasium on next Saturday afternoon.

The games are to be a contest between the freshman and sophomore classes. Many weeks ago a parchment challenge, rolled in the ancient fashion on two sticks and written in Greek, had the "freshies" prepare for the struggle. It is explained that there were to be contests in an original dance and chorus, lyrics and hoop rolling, hurdling, discus hurling, torch racing and stilt walking.

Both classes have been diligently hunting for the proper Greek fashions, as every member of the 1915 and 1916 classes must come garbed in flowing robes. The dancers, athletes, and those of the chorus are to be appropriately differentiated from the rest. The athletes, for instance, are to wear the short running tunic of the Greek boy.

This year the Greek games constitute a particularly important event, as, contrary to former years, tickets are being sold and outsiders will be admitted. The proceeds are for the benefit of the Barnard endowment and building fund. It is the first decided attempt the students have made to help raise the $2,000,000 that the college needs.

MAN OF 60 LEAPS TO DEATH

Samuel Sullivan, sixty years old, committed suicide by jumping from a window on the fourth floor of the Home for the Aged of the Little Sisters of the Poor, in No. 155 West 106th street, yesterday. His neck was broken. The body was taken to the Morgue.

Sullivan became an inmate of the institution about three weeks ago. Yesterday morning, while his nurse was absent a moment, he threw open the window and jumped, a distance of sixty feet.
